MassBay Library Joins New Library Network: HELM

We are very excited to announce that MassBay has a new library network, Higher Education Libraries of Massachusetts (HELM). HELM is an association of Massachusetts college libraries in public higher education. HELM libraries are also members of the Fenway Library Organization (FLO), a consortium, or group, of academic and special libraries in Massachusetts. This means that in addition to the resources available at MassBay libraries, you can access resources from other libraries in HELM. Other libraries in the HELM network are: the community colleges Holyoke, Middlesex, North Shore, Quinsigamond, Roxbury, Mount Wachusett and Massasoit, and Massachusetts College of Liberal Arts. MassBay is one of the founding members of this new network, which started in 2017. The HELM webpage is https://www.helmlib.org/. You can explore the HELM catalog at https://catalog.helmlib.org/ and you can search for MassBay books and resources at https://mbccatalog.helmlib.org/. Welcome to HELM, everyone!

Your MassBay Library Card

When you sign up for classes, you are issued a library card number. It’s the number under the barcode on the back of your OneCard. You can also look up your library card number in Bay Navigator. With your library card you can borrow the reserve textbooks for your classes, take out books from the regular library collection, and request books and other materials through the interlibrary loan system. When off-campus, you can use your library card number to access databases for articles, encyclopedia entries and other resources, plus lots more!

One Search!: EBSCO Discovery Service Now Available at MassBay

MassBay Libraries offer a great new service for our patrons: EBSCO Discovery Service, also called One Search! Use One Search! to search all of the resources available to you in our library collection. Whether you’re searching for physical books, eBooks, full-text scholarly journal articles from an electronic database, videos to stream, or the many other types of resources the Library provides, One Search! helps you search the entire collection all in one place. To search MassBay’s One Search! services, click on the “One Search! Search Everything ->” button at the top of the MassBay Library Homepage (http://www.massbay.edu/library). Use the search limiters to help narrow your search. Search limiters are found on the left hand side of the search results. You can limit the type of resource, the years published, the location and more.

If you are working off campus, you will need to enter your library card to access the electronic resources. Your library card number is on the back of your OneCard. Just enter the number below the barcode. (See the article on the first page for more info on your library card.) Contact a librarian if you would like more assistance using EDS. It’s a great search tool!!

Use MassBay Library’s LibGuides for Help with Homework

LibGuides are webpages featuring content written by MassBay Library staff to help with your homework and classwork. LibGuides feature “research assistance, subject guides, and useful resources compiled by your friendly librarians.” If you’ve had library instruction as part of your class, the librarian probably used a LibGuide to go with the classwork. Explore all the LibGuides and what they can offer you for help with homework, classwork, and general information and knowledge at: http://massbay.libguides.com/browse.php

Attention Faculty: We’re Here to Help!
The library can support your teaching and student success.
We can answer questions and provide information about Library programs, services, and resources for your courses. Additionally the Librarian offers help with:
• instructional sessions for general or subject-specific research in your classroom, tailored to your students’ needs
• providing materials such as books, periodicals, videos and online resources that support your curriculum
• development of online guides to support your course’s research assignments and projects

If you’d like to learn more or schedule a class session, contact Karen Delorey, Coordinator of Library Services: at kdelorey@massbay.edu, at 508-270-4217 (x4217) or come into the Library.
